DAVENPORT UNIVERSITY'S HEALTH SERVICES ADMINISTRATION PROGRAM RECEIVES NATIONAL ACCREDITATION One of just three universities in Michigan to be accredited

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Dec. 10, 2013 – Davenport University's College of Health Professions announced that its Bachelor of Science in Health Services Administration program has received national accreditation from the Association of University Programs in Health Administration (AUPHA). Davenport is one of only two universities in the U.S. to earn the initial certification this year and becomes just the third Michigan undergraduate institution to receive the AUPHA certification.

"Davenport's College of Health Professions is ecstatic to have received this certification for our Health Service Administration Program," said Linda Spang, Associate Dean of Allied Health. "Only 53 universities nationwide have received this certification, so this places us in very good company. This honor demonstrates Davenport's commitment to providing the highest quality education for its students."

The Bachelor of Health Services Administration program was awarded a full three-year initial certification, which is the maximum length of time awarded for a first-time request for undergraduate program certification. The program, which prepares students for management positions in various health care settings, is offered at Davenport's Grand Rapids, Lansing, Livonia, Warren and Flint campuses and online.
